March of Dimes Will

PRODIG FOR BREAKTHROUGH In virus research, Dr. Helen Van Vunakis, left, and James L. Barlow work in the Albany, N. Y., laboratories of the New York State Department of Health. The doctors are separating a basic nucleic substance from the protein of the virus, working under a March of Dimes grant from the National Foundation. Expansion of virus studies is a major part of 1959 March of Dimes aimed toward Greater Victories in polio, arthritis, birth defects.

March of Dimes funds in 1959 will be used for breaking new medical scientific ground in the history-making virus research program of the National Foundation.

In fact, the virus research program of the National Foundation already is the largest of its kind in existence.

Scientists under National Foundation grants have made some of the most creative medical advances of our time. They have blazed new trails not only in the fields of polio and polio prevention but also in the whole realm of medical knowledge.

Among these scientific milestones are important breakthroughs in knowledge of encephalitis (sleeping sickness); important data on how insects transmit disease to man; the first successful method of growing polio virus in nonnervous tissue, without which the Salk vaccine could not have been created; discovery of a whole group of heretofore unknown viruses, called EC20 viruses, some of which are harmful to man; basic facts about the nature of viruses, normal and abnormal cells and nucleic acid, which has been called the "auto-matic pilot of life."

Some of these discoveries have an importance to medical science comparable to atomic energy's importance to physics. National Foundation research grants have received world recognition with Nobel prizes. Their explorations have pushed medical science ahead with giant strides. Over $34,000,000 has been authorized by the National Foundation for research since 1938. Current virus projects include exploring the damage inflicted on the unborn child of mothers attacked by newly discovered viruses; the possibility of viruses as a cause of arthritis; and effects of epidemics of the new viral agents that swept two states in 1957.

The theme for this January's March of Dimes is "Toward Greater Victories." The organization that made prevention of paralytic polio possible now is ready to begin attacks on other crippling diseases. Initial new goals are arthritis and birth defects. In these and other areas the role of the virus will be explored. At the same time scientists will attempt to find out about latent viruses that may be responsible for illness and disability many years after they first enter the body.

The National Foundation has reached a stage in virology where the chemical composition and structure of the virus is well enough known for the virus to be taken apart and for viruses to be used as tools to discover how cells act, grow and reproduce. Much of what science can do today in a virus laboratory is the result of research sponsored in the past by the March of Dimes.

1958 Year-End Report Of The Michigan Conservation Department

Michigan's 59 state parks and recreation areas received top billing in conservation activities during 1958. General attendance approached the 18,000,000 record mark of 1955 and camp permits soared to an all-time high of 194,500; a 16 percent jump over last year.

The widely publicized issue — to lease or not to lease a portion of the Porcupine Mountains state park to a copper mining company — neared a final decision by the Conservation Commission as 1959 approached.

Michigan's hunting and fishing popularity reasserted itself as some 2,461,800 hunters and anglers enjoyed the state's woods, fields and waters.

Approximately 1,287,000 hunting licenses were sold while fishing license purchases totaled 1,204,800.

Deer hunters, estimated at more than 400,000 experienced their most successful year since 1953, harvesting 92,500 whitetails. They were aided by a game management program which established an "early season" concurrent with the regular 15-day period — in 37 designated food-shortage and crop-damage areas.

From all indications, more than 1,000,000 ringneck pheasants were bagged for the sixth consecutive year; a figure 10-15 percent below the pre-season estimate. Game population dipped slightly and the kill totals dropped from 350,000 in 1957 to an estimated 325,000 this year. According to early reports, rabbit hunting success promises to be good.

Another outlet was opened to hunters when the Legislature passed a bill establishing a shooting preserve program. The Department, hunters and prospective preserve-owners are keeping a close eye on results from 35 public and private areas now in operation.

Good trapping weather and increased beaver production a record heavier and other harvest.

Some 4,775,730 fish — including 2,470,317 trout — were planted in Michigan's public waters. The planting, considerably exceeded the 1957 restocking figure of 2,168,000.

Twenty-four public fishing sites were acquired boosting the state's total to 720.

In a program designated to aid the return of lake trout to the Great Lakes, nearly 1,000,000 eggs were taken from selected inland lakes for hatchery rearing.

The Department's program for chemical treatment of lakes to improve fishing was accelerated during the year with rewarding results in 24 lakes treated.

There also were new hopes this year that eventually the sea lamprey may be brought under control in the Great Lakes. Intensive chemical treatment of 30 river and stream spawning waters was encouraging. These tests were performed by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service with Conservation Department cooperation.

State forest timber sales receipts dropped from a record $795,000 in 1957 to $709,761 for the 1958 fiscal year ending June 30th.

An unprecedented demand for young trees exhausted supplies at Michigan's three state nurseries this spring. Approximately 14,000,000 seedlings and transplants were sold. Another 18,000,000 young trees went on sale this fall.

A new nursery, under construction near Brighton, will be in operation in 1960 to boost production.

A declining trend in oil production continued while natural gas yield made a significant recovery from the 1957 level. Several older and deeper oil formations have been discovered in the southern part of the state which may rejuvenate waning oil output.

Revenue from the sale of Great Lakes bottom lands added $47,755 to the state's general fund with another $86,700 pending state administrative board approval of sales. This compares to $83,315 in 1957 sales.

Sixteen new assistant district supervisors were named to facilitate more adequate supervision of law enforcement and fire fighting activities.

In mid-year administrative changes within the Department, Gaylord A. Walker was named chief deputy director and L. N. Jones was appointed deputy director for field operations. The changes followed the death of Wayland Osgood, for seven years, deputy director.

A 40 percent increase in forest fire rates was registered as 1,247 fires damaged 11,500 acres.

Conservation education programs, conducted at the Department's Higgins Lake Conservation School, continued their vital role of bringing conservation theories and practices to teachers, members of sportsmen's clubs, service organizations and other related groups.

Other educational projects were channeled through film loans, television and publications.

Ways To Ring In New Year More Than Once

With a little imagination—and a lot of stamina—you can ring in the New Year with more than one celebration.

In fact, you can keep on celebrating all through the year, just by switching calendars.

The World Book Encyclopedia says most of the Christian world wipes the slate clean on January 1st.

But by trading in the Georgian calendar for the Julian calendar, you can have another New Year's party on January 14th.

Take a few months to recover, and you can join the Iranian celebration on March 21st. If that doesn't wear you out, you can turn over a new leaf in autumn, when the Jewish welcome the New Year.

If you want to cut down on travel time, you can confine your party-hopping to India. The Hindus are divided into many different religious groups, and each group marks the beginning of the year on a different date.

Local Christmas Scene Colorful

The two big Christmas trees on Michigan Avenue near the traffic light are conspicuous by their absence in this year's decorating of the city, but beautiful as they have always been, it is perhaps a good idea, considering the early and plentiful snowfall and consequent slippery street conditions, that they are not in their usual places.

The strings of colored lights across the city are automatically holiday lit of spirits, and let the passerby know the town is putting its seasonal "best foot forward."

The Rialto Theatre this year has dressed its entrance with an enormous red candle, taller than the tallest tree in the city, with a Christmas green wreath.

Perhaps you did a double-take at the Harry Krummel's up-to-the-minute Santa taking off on a rocket on their garage roof. The forsaken reindeer grazing below him was one of their number looking upward from the roof, with his new transportation, whether wistfully or happily it isn't certain.

The James Bakers have included another tree with the two they decorated last year, and the result is a myriad of tiny lights rivals the efforts of the big cities.

The ministering lady at the Chamber of Commerce, who brought the holiday spirit right indoors, with a snow scene with Santa and his reindeer, Eskimos and cleverly arranged pine boughs plumb in the middle of the marvellous place of business, has Christmas cards hung up the room, tinsel on the door and window trim, and silhouettes on the windows.

Of course there are many clever and very beautiful displays at the various places of business around town, and at the hospital, besides the many expressions of Santa and his reindeer, nativity scenes, and beautifully dressed trees showing in home windows.

It would be unfair to name without including the town's one. Take a trip through the town one of these evenings and see what talent our townspeople show.

Grayling Bowling Team Buys Steak Dinner

According to word received from Don Akers of Manton, former Grayling resident, Payne's Restaurant of Manton won all three games from Grayling Restaurant at Manton on Sunday, December 14th at the Manton Bowling alley. Total score was 2684 to 2382. This was the second series with the total for the six games being: Payne's 5118 and Grayling 4846.

The two 3 game series were bowled for steak dinner and a delicious steak dinner was served at Payne's following the match with the Grayling bowlers playing host to the Payne team.

Business & Financial Forecast For '59

Roger W. Babson

1. Not too good and not too bad. Both the boom and the recent recession will be awaiting developments following the recent November elections.

2. 1959 will be a "do nothing" year for Congress. Both parties will hold their cards close to their chests until 1960, — when the Republicans will want good business. Most Democrats will vote for most of the inflationary legislation, but only a few of these Congressmen will vote for such legislation over the President's veto. The Democrats will be in a dilemma. In their hearts they will not want good business in 1960; but they must be very careful not to do anything which could be held against them in 1960.

Every act of Rockefeller's and of other leading Presidential candidates to both parties will be carefully scrutinized to analyze their vote-getting possibilities for 1960. We will comment on these possibilities in our Forecast for 1960 a year from now.

3. So long as Russia is fearful of China's loyalty, she will not intentionally start a shooting war. A hope that Chiang Kai-shek will come to his senses and that China will become an ally of the United States. Marshall surely set on the "wrong horse" when he made his report to Truman.

4. Our national budget will show a heavy deficit in 1959. This and other factors should cause a continued gradual, although not dangerous, inflation.

5. Serious competition will continue at all levels in 1959. Manufacturers, merchants, and others who reduce advertising and other selling appropriations will surely suffer.

6. Despite competition, the profits squeeze will be eased for many concerns by strenuous cost-cutting programs and improving business.

7. More foreign goods will enter the United States during 1959. This especially applies to German, Italian, Japanese, and Russian goods.

8. New cargo ships, built in Japan, England, Germany, Norway, Sweden and Italy, will be launched in 1959. This should result in most American-built and American-registered ships operating at a loss. More subsidies will be demanded.

9. Failures may not increase during 1959. Some big corporations, now listed in the Dow Jones Averages, may get in financial difficulties.

10. Federal cost-of-living figures will be disputed in 1959. Labor rates and wages which have been tied to the Federal Tables will be disputed by both Labor and Management.

11. On the basis of the above statements, I forecast, on the average, no wide change in 1959 for commodity prices. The recent recession is not over. Russia is still fighting us with an economic war. There will be more strikes and labor troubles in 1959 than in 1958. Due to fear of unfavorable labor legislation and poor business conditions, labor leaders were on their good behavior in 1958.

12. It is now difficult to forecast the unemployment situation for 1959. Owing to the increase of automation, working forces will continue to be cut. Looking ahead to the elections of 1960, manufacturers, who are mostly Republicans, will want no more serious unemployment to occur.

13. Many plans for expansion of plants were postponed during 1958 for fear of a real depression. Some of these plans will be executed in 1959, although on a more moderate scale.

There will be a need for continued economic readjustment in 1959; but the playing of politics by both parties may temporarily postpone it.

14. 1959 will not see any marked change in money rates. However, borrowers who have not established good credit will continue to find it difficult to get new funds in 1959.

15. This means that it should be more difficult, on average, to sell long-term bonds in 1959 than in 1958. Buy only non-callable serial bonds or bonds of reasonably short maturities.

16. The supply of non-taxable state, municipal, and revenue bonds will increase during 1959.

This will be due both to less readily available credit and to rising needs of municipalities.

18. The "fly-in-the-ointment" will be the uncertainty of the Federal policy regarding the new $30,000,000,000 roadbuilding program. Will it compete with or protect toll roads recently built? I believe this program will not harm outstanding Turnpike Bonds.

19. Many investors will switch from stocks into bonds in 1959, thus obtaining both higher income and better security.

Harold Edwards Succumbs Dec. 24

Our community was shocked and saddened by the sudden passing of Harold Edwards at three o'clock the morning of December 25th. Mr. Edwards was 52 years old. He succumbed to a heart attack at his home. He had suffered from a heart ailment for the past four years.

Mr. Edwards, better known as "Slip" to his many friends, was born in Grayling April 25, 1906, to Harold and Nellie Edwards. He grew up here and attended Grayling schools. He was married December 30, 1930, to Miss Frances Grodek, of East Jordan, at that place. He was employed by the New York Central railroad for a time, and later at the Bear Archery Company. He was also a devoted worker for the Ground Observer Corps. He was noted for his ability as a hunter and fisherman.

Surviving besides his wife are a son, Thomas William, of Central Michigan College, Mt. Pleasant, his mother, Mrs. Nellie Edwards of Traverse City — a sister, Mrs. Grace Rubino of Lansing, and two brothers, Fred of Flint and Air Corps pilot, Harry Edwards of El Paso, Texas.

A member of St. Mary's church, services for Mr. Edwards were held Saturday, December 27th at 11 o'clock in the morning, from the church, the Rev. Fr. Joseph Sakowski officiating. Interment was in Elmwood Cemetery, with Dick Hassmussen, Roger Rasmussen, Jack Rasmussen, J. L. Martin, Theodore Visnav and John Duffy serving as pallbearers.

Crawford Co.'s Heart Disease Toll High

(Special to the Avalanche) New York, Dec. 26—Heart disease is found to be the cause of 61.9 percent of all deaths among residents of Crawford County, according to the latest annual report from the U. S. Public Health Service.

As in most parts of the country, it dwarfs all other diseases, a hazard to life. Yet, it is reported, definite advances are being made in the fight to control it.

At a meeting of the American Heart Association last month, it was stated that a person's chances of surviving a heart attack or a stroke and then going on to lead a normal life are getting better every day.

The official report on the heart disease toll, covering every part of the country, has been made public just in advance of National Heart Month.

The 61.9 percent mortality among Crawford County residents was found to be relatively high. It was above the 53.9 percent recorded for the United States at large and above the 54.8 percent for the East North Central States.

An indication of how prime a problem heart disease is in this country is given by a few figures. They show that it affects more than 10,000,000 living people and causes a loss to industry of 650,000 man-years each year—the equivalent of over $3 billion in earnings.

In Crawford County, the number of deaths of local people from all causes during 1956, based on vital statistics just released, totaled 63, of which 39 were due to heart ailments.

The outstanding offender among the latter was coronary heart disease, which took 24 lives. Serious as the situation continues to be, there are encouraging reports coming from the research centers working on the problem.

Their scientific developments include a new surgery to improve the outlook for stroke victims, a promising discovery for control of high blood pressure and a clot-dissolving enzyme which can remove clots in a matter of hours.

The long-term solution to heart attacks, however, will consist of some means of preventing them. The key to the situation is in warding off hardening of the arteries, which narrows blood passages and causes clotting.

Cage Wars Get Underway Next Week

High school basketball, which has been taking a holiday breather, gets underway again next week for both of the county teams. The Frederick Eagles will get into action first as they take part in the Snowland Class D Conference Tournament at Ellsworth.

The Eagles are slated to tangle with Rapid City at 7 p. m. Tuesday evening, January 6. If the Eagles win, they will next see action on Thursday, January 8, when they would meet Central Lake at 7 p. m. The championship game is set for 8:30 p. m. Saturday night, January 10th with a consolation game preceding it at 7 p. m.

The Grayling High Vikings will get back into action on Friday night, January 9th when they travel to East Jordan to take on the surprising Red Devils. East Jordan holds a two won, one lost record in conference play in contrast to Grayling's one won, two lost. The two teams have met two common opponents, Charlevoix and Harbor Springs. While the Vikings won both games, the Red Devils surprised the entire conference by dropping the Rayders 51 to 49 in the last game before the holiday recess. East Jordan whipped Harbor Springs 59 to 39, a 20 point spread, while the Vikings using lots of reserves tripped the Harbor Spring Rams, 62 to 34, a 28 point spread.

The Red Devils have always proved a tough adversary for Grayling and with the game on the East Jordan court, the Vikings will have their hands full to come up with a victory. East Jordan's lone loss this year came at the hands of the Mancelona Ironmen, a 52 to 34 setback.

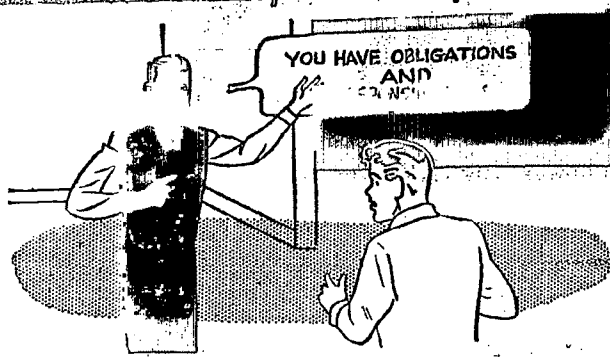

Medals And Ribbons For The Asking

There are literally thousands and thousands of veterans of World War II and the Korean War who have earned medals and ribbons while in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard.

But who never made application for them, so now the government has decided to simplify the procedure.

All a veteran has to do is to write his branch of service and simply state, "Please send all the

Everyone Has Important Obligations

"My father is so strict," a teenager complained. "He compares me to other kids." "You are a teenager," a wise man added. "I've heard that in his young days my father used to 'stir things up,' so why should he be so tough on you?"

Outside of the concept that we are "free" men because we live in a nation that believes in freedom, none of us are ever really "free." If we were completely "free," we would have no responsibilities.

And, further on the matter of "freedom," the teenager who has no parental supervision or is subject to no elder authority, is likely to stray off the road here and there along the way.

Some parents may be too strict, more so than is necessary. But, as a general rule, they act sincerely, with the right purpose in mind, and try to base their actions upon knowledge and wisdom that has come with the years of living.

The best advice the author can give to a teenager who feels his parents are "too" strict is for that teenager to conduct himself at all times in a fashion that will prove that he is trustworthy for the guiding hand to be always so firm and heavy.

Generally speaking, many parents are not strict because they enjoy being so, or because they want to be—it is usually because they feel it is necessary that they do

State G. O. P. Comes Alive With Traces Of Liberalism Showing

REPUBLICANS HAVE COME ALIVE in Michigan after a decade of defeat and despair.

There are new traces of liberalism in the party and a sense of what psychologists and social workers call "togetherness" that has been absent in recent years.

They hope to figure 1960 to be the breaking point in the regime of Gov. Williams, the year when they will have their first open shot at the executive office in 12 years.

Right now, Republicans hold power only in the state Senate, 27 to 12. This gives a perilous and uncertain dominance in the legislature since they lost their majority in the House which is now split 55 to 55.

Political experts see three signs of life in the party.

1. Chairman Lawrence Lindner drew the applause of Democratic Chairman Neil Staebley at one point in the 1958 campaign for reviving the organization of the party.

This is the field where Democrats beheld a new star. Staebley, swept the field away

Other signs of health show the party is out of debt following the Nov. 4 election, even after paying for a testimonial dinner for Bagwell and other party leaders.

For the first time, the party demanded that its legislators be held accountable to the party organization. Legislators are elected from districts where their names and records are better known than their party affiliation. They have at times turned down proposals solidly backed by party leaders.

Republicans in the Senate, realizing their role as the last bastion of the party in Michigan, are looking for ways to become the voice of the party.

MOMENTUM IS DEVELOPING quickly behind a safety program for public schools in Michigan to prevent disasters such as hit Our Lady of the Angels School in Chicago.

Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett and Gov. Williams already have started campaigning for higher building standards.

Included in the plan will be regular inspections and failure to comply with orders will eventually close the schools. Bartlett said some of the state's schools are "combustible."

LINKED WITH CONTROVERSY, tax proposals certain to set fire to the legislature in 1959 will be a campaign against waste in state government.

The special committee on waste which studied the problem during the summer and fall will make its report in the first week of the session, which starts Jan. 14.

Members have said it will include reports on the misuse of state-owned automobiles, printing contracts and other areas where they say it is possible to get more economy.

"Sure, we can continue this plus era of our government, but we won't be doing our duty to the taxpayer," said Senator L. Harvey Lodge (R-Drayton Plains), committee chairman.

LOCAL CONTROVERSIES over the routes of Michigan's new expressways can only serve to delay the construction program, according to Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie.

The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, however, requires that public hearings be conducted on the routes before federal matching funds are available to pay up to 80 percent of the total cost.

These hearings, while possibly a handicap to efficiency of the highway program, do permit the people to express their views and get answers to questions which concern them.

The most damaging controversies from a time standpoint have taken place in the Detroit area, where Mackie already has withdrawn his promise to have a major artery under contract by 1961.

WHEN PEOPLE WORK—

When people work, everyone benefits. Workers are able to buy the things their families need. The merchant sells more goods. There is more work in the trades, the services, professions and elsewhere. These are things of which prosperity is made.

The factory payroll dollar rolls all around the town. As it rolls, it grows and there is some of it for everybody.

The economic research department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States made a study and found that 100 more factory jobs in a town mean that... 296 more people are brought into the community... 112 households are created... annual personal income in the community increases by $590,000... bank deposits increase by $270,000. It's up to all of us to help build payrolls.

Join hands with your local industrial development organization and the Michigan Economic Development Department to help your community prosper.

It's People Who Count . . .

Nearly every one knows about the new drugs that control pneumonia and tuberculosis and the Salk vaccine that prevents polio paralysis.

What most of us generally forget is that behind these medical triumphs are people. Without skilled people in the clinics, the hospitals and the research laboratories, the fight against disease could not go on.

Despite our recent advances in medical science, there is a growing shortage of these trained disease fighters. We need over 100,000 more nurses, physical and occupational therapists, medical social workers, doctors and experts all down the line from clinical practice to laboratory research.

We need over 100,000 more nurses, physical and occupational therapists, medical workers, doctors and experts all down the line from clinical practice to laboratory research.

To fill this gap in medical manpower, The National Foundation has just announced the most impressive plan for health scholarships in our history.

The National Foundation, originally known as the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, is the voluntary health organization that runs the March of Dimes, gave patient aid to some 325,000 polio victims, financed the Salk vaccine and educated 70 million Americans to use it as protection against polio paralysis. It is now expanding its scope to include, besides polio, America's No. 1 cripple—arthritis—and the nation's most unmet childhood problem—birth defects.

Over the next 10 years The National Foundation proposes to set aside $12 million in March of Dimes funds to help 505 students each year get college training in the health professions. Each scholarship will pay $480 a year for four years. The National Foundation's 3,100 chapters will select from each state five to 25 students a year, depending on population.

Through this scholarship plan, The National Foundation is putting the emphasis for winning the health battle back on people. And it's people who count.

"The Typical Country Editor" . . .

The American Press, which is a magazine of home town newspapers, recently sought an answer to this question: "What manner of man is the typical country

Test your knowledge—or your guessing ability: See how many paragraphs you must read before you can identify the famous view above.

The scene above is one of the most photographed in the United States and is located in a city billed as the "Center of Scenic America."

The square shown above is visited by more than a million tourists every year.

Within this walled 10-acre plot are a spired Temple which required 40 years to build; an oval-roofed Tabernacle with a seating capacity of 8,000; an assembly hall, and a museum filled with pioneer relics and other interesting structures.

The location is out West, in a city founded by a group of Mormon pioneers led by Brigham Young. The city is Salt Lake City, Utah and shown is LDS (Mormon) Temple Square, located in the heart of the city.

Naturally, there are tremendous differences of belief and attitude among the thousands of men and women who edit the grass-roots press. But, American Press finds, certain things can be said. In its words: "In general, their roots are firmly imbedded in the America of a past era—an America which thrived on such words as self-reliance and independence, and they stubbornly resist all movements wherein social groups might be benefited but at the expense of the individual's freedom."

"Mollycoddling" by government is one of the pet hates of the country editor. His heroes are the founding fathers of our nation who believed in a minimum amount of government and a maximum amount of individual freedom.

"He is a champion of free enterprise, and the freer the better."

In other words, the typical country editor believes in the ideals that not only made this country great—but maintained individual freedom and dignity along with national greatness.

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

January 2, 1936

Friends of Miss Clara Bugby of Flint, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bugby of Grayling, will be pleased to learn of her marriage Wednesday to Mr. Charles David, son of Mr. and Mrs. John David of Flint. The ceremony took place at 12:15 o'clock, just after the arrival of the new year, at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. Edgar Flory of the Methodist Memorial Church officiated. After the ceremony the wedding party of fourteen enjoyed a very delicious dinner prepared by the bride's mother. A huge and beautifully decorated wedding cake was used as centerpiece and was made by James Bugby, brother of the bride. As a final celebration the entire wedding party attended the Charity Ball in a body, and the following day the young couple left for Flint, where they will make their home.

Virginia Skingley will preside over Grayling's 17th annual winter sports carnival that is to be held January 24, 25 and 26. She was the unanimous choice of the judges. Virginia, 16 year old daughter of the Harold Skingleys, is a high school junior. She is naturally attractive, and is a cosmopolitan. A picture of health and is a typical outdoor girl. She skates, skis, snowshoes and rides the toboggan, all with thrilling enthusiasm. The selection of the queen was determined somewhat differently from other years. This time representatives of several ladies clubs of Grayling were requested to meet and submit names of eligible young ladies for this year's snow queen. From this list the judges selected the following winners: Elaine McDonnell, Gertrude Streeter, Beverly Schaeble, Vivian Dawson, Berneta Chappel, Yvonne Kraus and Virginia Skingley. Three outside judges came to Grayling for the purpose of making the final selection from this group.

Miss Helen Witkowski, of Flint, spent her Christmas vacation at the home of her sister, Mrs. Joseph Kasper.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Laurent of Cadillac were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson New Years and attended the Charity Ball.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mallinger and daughter Patty Kay of Higgins Lake spent Sunday with Mrs. Mallinger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Hoessli.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McEvers and son Derek and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bissonette and children spent Sunday at Gaylord visiting relatives.

Mrs. John Knecht royally entertained her children and their families Christmas Day at Edgewater on the Ausable. The occasion almost amounted to a family reunion, since twenty-four were present.

Miss Eunice Schreiber, who visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Schreiber, over Christmas, left yesterday to visit her sister, Mrs. Andrew McGuire, at Flint, before returning to her teaching duties at Bayport.

Misses Evelyn and Marian Skingley entertained twenty of their young friends at a tobogganing party on Saturday night at their home down river. With the mercury registering some 22 below the happy crowd kept the toboggans busy on the big hill nearby. Later, to get warm, the crowd played "goody" in the house, with Teddy Stephan, Jr. and Ruth Feldhauser winning the prizes. Potluck lunch was enjoyed. Miss Virginia Skingley, the new snow queen, was one of the guests.

Dan Hoessli, local Standard Oil agent, submitted to an appendix operation at Mercy Hospital Saturday.

He is reported to be getting along very nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stillwagon left Saturday for Foley, Alabama, where they will be caretakers for the winter months at the home of Arnold Boutell of Saginaw.

When Dick Rasmussen sent in a card of thanks for having won one of the prizes at Mac & Gidley's, last week, his copy was addressed to Mr. Mac, and when the Avalanche printed it Mr. McNamara, the youngster wanted to know who that was, as he didn't know anyone by the name of McNamara. What do you think of that!

Morgan Paige assumed the guardianship of the city's portals yesterday when he was appointed city police officer. Bert DeFranco, who served in that capacity for several years, resigned first of the week and has gone to Mackinaw City. Mr. Paige is well known to the people of this community and is a well respected citizen.

Harold T. Johnson of a local CCC camp is just completing a beautiful woddland cabin near the North Branch.

Thomas Papendick is spending her Christmas vacation with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Skinner, at Maple Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Gannon had as their guests Christmas day Mrs. Gannon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Smock of Frederic.

Little Beatrice Schreiber is spending this week down the river at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Schreiber.

Mr. and Mrs. Devere Wolcott enjoyed a visit Wednesday and Thursday from their daughter, Mrs. Don Sheldon, and family of Oscego, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Moore, accompanied by Miss Yvonne SanCander, drove to Cadillac Tuesday to attend the W. L. S. Barn Dance, which was held there that evening.

The Gannon twins, Audrey and Beverly, left Wednesday to spend the remainder of their school vacation with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Smock, of serious, only short-term bond issues — other than convertible bonds — should be held to maturity. Bonds should no longer be considered good "permanent" investments unless they are non-taxable or convertible on a reasonable basis.

21. The best investment policy during 1959 will continue to be a well-diversified portfolio — of stocks, short-term bonds, and cash. Every conservative investor will keep one-third of his portfolio liquid, to have funds available in case of a sudden very severe drop in the stock market. This will come some day.

22. As the 1958 Congress has not accomplished more in corporate tax reform than the 1957 Congress will do little to improve the labor situation. Therefore, invest in companies which have been successful in the past. Banks and utilities probably are the most nearly immune.

23. The Taft-Hartley Act will not be amended, nor will labor's exemption from anti-monopoly laws be removed, until after the 1960 election. Labor will get more and more power until — with Russia's help — they bring on a real depression.

24. Due to unemployment and the difficulty of borrowing funds for installing automation in factories, the machinery industry will continue quiet during 1959.

25. I now see no probability that either wages or retail prices will be raised during 1959 unless Russia threatens World War III.

26. Most wage workers will be more efficient during 1959, which should enable some managements to increase their productivity and profits.

27. Executives will attend more strictly to business during 1959, reducing time spent on luncheon clubs, golf, etc.

28. Good building land on the proper side of growing cities will continue to increase in price notwithstanding a decline in suburban building. Small farmers holding such land should not now sell.

29. Small farms without any suburban possibilities may well consider selling to adjoining farmers if offered a fair price in 1959.

30. Large commercial farms will prosper during 1959; but small farmers may not do so well.

31. Pending a serious war, there will be no radical change in the Government's farm policy during 1959.

32. With less fear of serious war, the real estate situation in the larger cities may improve; but municipal taxes will increase.

33. Some suburban houses now owned by well-paid executives will come on the market in 1959, due to loss of positions or moves to other sections of the country.

34. Real estate mortgage money will be tighter in 1959 than in 1958. Furthermore, due to inflation, it will be worth less when due.

35. The demand for motels is largely satisfied; but there will be an increasing demand for very modern apartment houses, especially of the co-operative type. Old houses of all kinds will be demanded during 1959.

36. Woodland will continue to be in demand during 1959. This especially applies now to pine, which is used for the best lumber, and to spruce, which is used for pulp. Hold woodland in 1959.

37. More Russian imports of pulpwood may be expected in 1959; but this should be offset by the increased domestic demand for cartons and packages for shipping and displaying merchandise.

38. Both timber and oil reserves of Canada will gradually increase in value. I am bullish on many Australian and African investments.

39. The greatest factor in determining the value of land and businesses in general is the automobile and available parking space. This is responsible for both the boom in suburban real estate and the decline of city property. Buying city real estate nearby parking facilities is a great mistake.

40. I was wrong in my forecast a year ago as to the Dow-Jones Averages. Although many stocks sell lower today than a year ago, the Dow-Jones Averages — especially the Industrials — sell higher. However, I will again run the risk and forecast that they will sell lower sometime in 1959 than they do today.

41. My forecast of the bond market for 1958 was correct. I am inclined now to reverse that forecast in the case of long-term non-convertible corporate bonds, — that is, they should sell for less sometime in 1959 than they are selling for today.

42. I continue to forecast that high-grade, convertible bonds will sell higher sometime during 1959 than they do today.

I repeat what I said last year regarding "cheap" stocks: "The large fortunes made in the stock market have come from buying non-dividend-paying common stocks at $5.00 a share or under. These will be the first to reach a buying level." If you are to buy these low-priced common stocks, you should seek companies without too much prior debt or cumulative preferred stock outstanding. They are the best common stocks for "capital gains."

43. Convertible bonds should hold up fairly well during 1959.

46. The best investment policy for 1959 is for one now to have a good bank account so funds will be available to buy bargains when a sufficient break comes in stocks, bonds, real estate and commodities.

46. There will be many failures in hastily organized electronics, nuclear, and similar companies during 1959.

47. With two or three exceptions, railroad stocks should be avoided during 1959 and until a definite long-range program of government aid is assured.

48. For steady income and fair marketability, well-established utility stocks should be the best for conservative investors not looking for profit. This especially applies to cumulative first preferred non-callable utility stocks.

49. The three handicaps to American business are the fear of inflation, the fear of union labor leaders, and the fear of President Eisenhower's physical collapse.

50. The three hopes for America are our churches, our schools, and a desire to "pay as you go" for services to function properly we must depend upon the parents of our nation.
